

The Mystique of Montecito

Years ago when motorists traveled the old Pacific Coast Highway, experienced visitors from the south stayed in beautiful Montecito while enjoying Santa Barbara. As it did then, the Coast Village Inn accommodates today's knowledgeable travelers.

Little Wooded Hills

Montecito, meaning "little wooded hills," is a quiet village of winding roads and tree-lined lanes. The area has long been known for the grandeur and elegance of its homes and the style and sophistication of its residents and visitors. Montecito has always been favored by those who could afford to live anywhere in the world. Few places offer such a perfect combination of climate, beauty, diversity and charm.

Rugged Mountains and Sandy Beaches

The rugged Santa Ynez Mountains, with miles and miles of hiking trails, rise from the foothills immediately behind the Coast Village Inn. The Inn itself, however, is just three blocks from sandy, secluded Butterfly Beach.

Shopping and Dining

Coast Village Road is Santa Barbara's most elegant and diverse shopping and dining street. Everything from T-shirts to tiaras, pizza to pâté, tacos to truffles, root beer to Romanée-Conti, and frisbees to fresh flowers can be found on this dynamic dining and shopping row. The Inn is at the very center, within easy walking distance of every shop, gallery, and restaurant on Coast Village Road.

A Delightfully Affordable Surprise

Locals know the Coast Village Inn as the most convenient, most affordable place to stay—the guest room of choice for their visiting friends.

The Romance of Santa Barbara

The Coast Village Inn is the perfect base from which to explore romantic Santa Barbara. Enjoy miles of beautiful beaches, crashing surf and ocean bluffs. Visit Santa Barbara's unique Natural History Museum, Art Museum, Sea Center, Botanic Garden, Historical Society Museum, Courthouse, and Old Spanish Mission.

Ride or Walk the Bicycle Path

The best way to see Santa Barbara up close is to take the bicycle path along Cabrillo Boulevard to Stearns Wharf, and then up State Street into Old Town Santa Barbara.

On the way you will pass the Andrée Clark Bird Refuge and the Santa Barbara Zoo (the best small zoo on the West Coast). Every Sunday, you can enjoy the colorful outdoor arts and crafts show which stretches for blocks along Palm Park. Stearns Wharf, which is lined with shops and restaurants, is also a favorite spot for amateur anglers.

Montecito's Affordable Guest Room of Choice

The Coast Village Inn offers 25 light and cheery rooms, all recently renovated and redecorated with country pine furniture and botanical prints. Some rooms have kitchens, some are suites.

Room service and continental breakfast are provided by Peabody's, the Inn's on-site restaurant. Friendly and professional staff offer personal service from check-in to departure to make your stay relaxing and enjoyable.
